

LDC 2-12: Construction Contract Administration Review

Abstract

Good Construction Administration is an important part of any successful project. That administration covers both office activities that occur before construction begins, as well as procedures to follow at the site. It also entails items such as a communication plan, as well as conducting pre-construction meetings with all parties. This document will serve as a checklist for these facets of a project that deal with Construction Administration.